

Rocky Intertidal Trivia Answer Key

ACROSS

- Many mollusks use their file-like tongue, or _____, to scrape food off of rocks.
- These algae are balloon-like and filled with water.
- Number of National Marine Sanctuaries.
- This bumpy red algae is called Turkish _____.
- This algae looks as though it is coated in oil because of its rainbow like sheen.
- Number of plates on a chiton.
- Flowering grass sensitive to pollution.
- The 2 types of green algae that LiMPETS monitors are green pin-cushion algae and _____.
- This black, encrusting algae is a different life phase of your answer to 10 across.
- The area between the reach of the highest high tide and the lowest low tide.
- These animals can produce clones of themselves.

DOWN

- Mussels produce strong _____ threads to attach to rocks.
- A _____ is a line across an area to be sampled, marked by a tape measurer.
- Coating that rockweed (Fucus spp.) use to prevent desiccation.
- The 2 types of brown algae that LiMPETS monitors are slender rockweed and _____ rockweed.
- This large, green anemone has radiating lines on the oral disk.
- There are three groups of algae: green, brown and _____.
- You must always check turban snail shells for _____.
- Coralline algae are found as either upright or _____.
- The type of seaweed commonly used in sushi.